

*The first years of a child's education are among the most important. During this time educators can have a profound impact on a child's success in development. A consensus exists that quality ECE depends on high-quality staff training and professional development.

(OECD, 2006: 158; UNESCO, 2010: 4).

Have you been thinking about a career working with children? Qualified Early Childhood Educators are always in high demand.

While taking courses and learning theoretical aspects of the Early Childhood Education field, students are eligible to apply for their ECE Assistant license so that they are able to work, gaining hands on experience; putting theory into practice.

DCE Basic ECE program uses the BC Early Learning Framework (BCELF) as a core document to support current practice in the ECE sector. The BCELF supports adults in creating rich early learning experiences and environments that best to support young children's early learning and development (p.3).

Caring, Respect, Responsibility, Community and Excellence.
